Ladies and Gentlemen of the Media:

The publication of another media guide affords me an opportunity to express a personal word of gratitude and appreciation to all members of the "Fourth Estate", locally and on a national level, for the professional manner in which they have covered the exploits of the New England Patriots.

We, the Patriots family, are always fully cognizant of the role the media has played in the development of professional football in this area and around the country. In a word, your contribution has been "monumental".

The past has been filled with great things for the Patriots and the entire National Football League. We are looking to the future, and particularly the 1973 season, with visions of bigger and better things.

On behalf of the Board of Directors and all members of the Patriots organization, may I take this opportunity to thank each of you for the encouragement and assistance extended in our direction as we strive to become the best franchise in the NFL. Under the leadership of our new General Manager and Head Coach, Chuck Fairbanks, we are all extremely optimistic of reaching this goal in the very near future.

Sincerely,

Bill Sullivan

WILLIAM H. SULLIVAN, JR.

WILLIAM H. SULLIVAN, JR.

PRESIDENT

"Mr. President," as William H. Sullivan, Jr. is known, has had more satisfaction crammed into the past couple of years than most men can hope for in a lifetime. But, this has come to be because Bill Sullivan has been willing — no, anxious — to work harder and give more than most men.

After a decade of trials and tribulations, but never knowing despair nor defeat, recent years have been filled with many successes for "Mr. President." A tribute to his personal magnetism may be drawn from the fact that those who know him will readily agree Bill Sullivan has earned and deserves everything he gets.

Bill's love affair with the Patriots and professional football is producing an abundance of highlights these days: stadium groundbreaking with Commissioner Rozelle and Papa Bear Halas; his oldest son, Charles W., becoming a member of the board of directors, standing with Frank Leahy at the dedication of Schaefer Stadium; seeing a record crowd of 61,457 jammed into the stadium for the Patriots upset win over Miami; declaring the first cash dividend in the club's history; securing the services of Chuck Fairbanks as General Manager and Head Coach . . . and there's more to come.

But, don't get the idea everything has been peaches and cream for this tireless and dedicated worker who has progressed from a humble beginning in Lowell to rank as a top business executive and sports leader.

No sir. When Bill Sullivan faced despair, he smiled; when he was confronted with defeat, he made plans for a new battle that would bring victory; when things seemed impossible, he sought avenues of accomplishment; when the outlook appeared darkest, he looked for the sunshine. And, if "Mr. President" were not this rare type of person, there is absolutely no question the Patriots and professional football would have long since departed from the New England scene.

Bill Sullivan has travelled this course. Now, he looks back, and is fully satisfied that it has been worth the price . . . and he looks to the future with pride and the knowledge that his Patriots are heading towards the top of the NFL pile where he always knew they would be.

CHUCK FAIRBANKS

GENERAL MANAGER AND HEAD COACH

Charles Leo "Chuck" Fairbanks, one of the winningest coaches in college football, is making his debut in the NFL this season as the leader of the New England Patriots.

The new head coach, sixth in the line of field bosses in the club's history, comes to the Patriots after having travelled the full cycle in a highly successful coaching career that has spanned nearly two decades.

Coach Fairbanks joins the Patriots with a reputation of being an organizer who promotes the image of oneness among his charges. He strives for solidarity and believes in esprit de corps.

At 40 years of age, he will rank as the second youngest head coach in the National Football League.

Prior to accepting the Patriots twin-posts, a situation he openly views as, "both a challenge and an opportunity," Fairbanks had forged a fantastic string of accomplishments as the head coach of the mighty Oklahoma Sooners. Over a span of six years his teams compiled a 52-15-1 record including two outright Big 8 Titles and one Co-Championship and a 3-1-1 tally in post-season bowl games, highlighted by last New Year's win over Joe Paterno's Penn State unit. During this period he groomed a dozen Sooners to All-America stature and moulded one Heisman Trophy winner. Two of his teams were runnersup for the national championship.

Coach Fairbanks was born in Detroit on June 10, 1933 and was educated at Charlevoix (Mich.) High School and Michigan State (51). An all-State end in high school, he played under Biggie Munn with the Spartans 1952 national championship team, the '53 Big Ten champs and the Big Ten champs of 1953 who defeated UCLA in the Rose Bowl. He finished off his collegiate career under Duffy Daugherty and earned a berth in the Blue-Gray all-star classic.

He launched his coaching career in 1955 as a student assistant at Michigan State's spring drills. His first head coaching assignment was at Ishpeming (Mich) High School, 1955-57, and he moved to the collegiate ranks under Frank Kush at Arizona State where he served as defensive backfield coach from 1958-61. From 1962 to 64 he was backfield coach at Houston and in '65 he was named assistant head coach under Bill Yeoman. The following year he became defensive backfield coach at Oklahoma and took over the top post in 1967.

THE SCOUTING DEPARTMENT

FRANK "BUCKO" KILROY
Director of Player Personnel

Under the direction of Frank "Bucko" Kilroy the Patriots have made fantastic strides in the area of personnel, or, as they say in the trade, scouting.

BOISTURE

FESTA

Super scout Bucko came to the Patriots from the highly-respected personnel department of the Dallas Cowboys. With the team entered into the CEPO combine, he continued to beef-up the club's scouting operation with full-time scouts and develop a personnel file on college and pro players that already ranks among the best in the NFL.

Spear-headed by Bucko, the Patriots scouting department is already one of the best in the league. A former Philadelphia Eagle great of 13 years standing, Kilroy is the senior scout in pro football and regarded as an excellent judge of talent.

Tom Boisture and Mike Hickey were the first full-time scouts hired. Dick Steinberg and John Festa have since been added to the team of talent scouts.

Boisture had eight years of college coaching under his belt before joining the Patriots; Hickey is the youngest scout in the NFL at 26 years of age; Steinberg has had seven years of college coaching and scouting; Festa has the monumental job of heading the office administration in addition to scouting work.

There isn't a better informed man in the NFL than Bucko Kilroy who earned all-Pro honors as an offensive guard on three occasions and duplicated this feat as a defensive middle guard during his illustrious playing career.

Bucko and his aides, supported by the CEPO group, are charged with the responsibility of ferreting out the most promising players on the college front. The caliber of young players on the present Patriots roster is proof positive of the scouting department's successes.

SCHAEFER STADIUM...INCREDIBLE!

Incredible! That's the adjective most frequently used by those who view Schaefer Stadium and listen to the fantastic story behind the construction of this gigantic monument to the magnetism of professional football and the loyal fans who did not want to lose it. Only those who lived with the "stadium situation" for more than a decade will ever truly appreciate the merit of that one word testimonial. Incredible!

After years of frustration, rebuff and rejection, and faced with the loss of a pro football team that had been fighting against nearly impossible odds to survive in this region, the "stadium situation" virtually exploded nothingness to reality.

In between these two states is the incredible tale . . . theater magnate and raceway owner E. M. Loew offering free land as a stadium site; interested town leaders, led by Selectman Jerry Rodman, uncovering a 98.3 per cent approval of the project at a Special Town Meeting; the financial genius of Phil David Fine getting the "Trust" together; Patriots president William H. Sullivan, Jr. expending himself to assure success of the stock offering; structural specialist Dan Marr, Jr., another of the Pats owners, working tirelessly with designer Dave Berg, consulting architects Finch/Heery of Atlanta, and the J. F. White Construction Co.

The aforementioned, along with all Patriots owners, directors and 2600 stockholders, the 4000 of the Realty Trust, and the people of Foxboro, did, indeed, write an incredible page in the annals of professional football.

This beautiful edifice is under the management of a five man board of trustees. Heading the group is Managing Trustee Fine who is joined by David W. Donahue, Rexford A. Bristol, Joseph P. Healey and Robert H. Watts.

The Schaefer Stadium story has been "incredible" . . . but, with the Patriots on the move, the best is yet to come!

WAIVER RULES, PLAYER LIMITS

WAIVERS

When a club asks waivers on a player during the period from July 4 through the end of the regular season, other clubs may claim that player from 4 p.m., New York time, on the day the request is made, until 4 p.m. the next day. This 24-hour waiver period expands to 10 days at other times of the year. Waivers are announced simultaneously to all 26 clubs with claims recognized in priority by conference. A 24-hour recall period follows the waiver period. If a player is awarded through waivers, his contract is assigned immediately to the acquiring club, except that awards due on the day prior to, or the day of a regular season game, are postponed to the following working day. If a player clears regular waivers, he becomes a free agent. If he clears injured waivers, he remains under contract to his club and receives full salary and benefits. Whenever a player is placed on waivers, the waiving club may not recall its waiver, and claiming club may not withdraw claims.

INACTIVE LIST

In addition to its regular roster (Active List), clubs establish an Inactive List (commonly known as taxi squad) on the Thursday prior to the season opener and are allowed an unlimited number of changes during the year between Active and Inactive status without such player being subject to waivers. During the season a club may have a total of no more than 47 players on both lists. Players on the Inactive List fall into one of three categories:

1. De-activated (still under contract and may be activated at any time), or
2. Under future contract (must be signed to 1973 contract before activation; also, players in this category may play for a minor league provided they are counted at all times on the Inactive List), or
3. Cleared injured waivers (must remain out 16 days or two games, whichever occurs first).

Players on the Inactive List may practice with their clubs.

A special Pre-Season Inactive List is operative from the time a team enter training camp until the Friday prior to the regular season opener. No more than three players may be on the pre-season inactive list at one time, and such players must be injured and remain on the list for a minimum of two pre-season games or 16 days, whichever occurs first.

RESERVE LIST

The Reserve List is a special category of inoperative players who may be retired, in military, injured, etc. In most instances a Reserve List player must be subjected to no-recall waivers in order to be activated during a season.

PLAYER LIMITS

Clubs are allowed to open training camp with an unlimited number of players but must, by August 7, 1973, establish a roster of no more than 60 active players. Thereafter a series of three player limit reductions must be met:

August 27—49 or less on Active List
September 3—44 or less on Active List
September 10—40 or less on Active List

Once a club goes below 44, all waivers through 4:00 p.m. on September 13 are non-recallable. Claims on players waived after the Active List is reduced to 49 cannot be withdrawn.

However, any player waived during the reduction from 49 to 40 can be reactivated at any time by the waiving team. In all other cases—both prior to the mandatory cutdowns and after the start of the regular season—a period of 16 days or two games must elapse before a waived player can be reactivated by the waiving team. College All-Star team players need not count as active players until the 44-player limit is reached, even if they play in preseason games prior to the reduction to 44.

Following is a year-by-year list of the NFL player limit:

1964-73	40	1951-55	33	1938-39	30
1963	37	1949-50	32	1936-37	35
1961-62	36	1948	36	1935	22
1960	38	1946-47	33	1930-34	20
1959	36	1943-45	28	1926-29	18
1957-58	35	1940-42	33	1925	16

NOTE: Prior to merger agreement in 1966, when limit for both AFL and NFL was placed at 40, following limits were in effect in AFL: 1960-61 (35); 1962-63 (33); 1964 (34); 1965 (38).
